Performance and Accountability

District Performance Index (DPI)

A District Performance Index (DPI) is the average performance of students in a subject area (i.e., ELA, Mathematics or Science) on the state summative assessments. The DPI ranges from 0-100. A DPI is reported for all students tested in a district and for students in each individual student group. Connecticut's ultimate target for a DPI is 75.

<sup>1</sup> NAEP is often called the "Nation's Report Card." It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education. This table compares Connecticut's performance to that of national public school students. Performance standards for state assessments and NAEP are set independently. Therefore, one should not expect performance results to be the same across Smarter Balanced and NAEP. Instead, NAEP results are meant to complement other state assessment data. <sup>2</sup>The Connecticut Physical Fitness Assessment (CPFA) is administered to students in Grades 4, 6, 8 and High School (HS). The health-related fitness scores gathered through the CPFA should be used to educate and motivate children and their families to increase physical activity and develop lifetime fitness habits.

Next Generation Accountability Results

Connecticut's Next Generation Accountability System is a broad set of 12 indicators that help tell the story of how well a district/school is preparing its students for success in college, careers, and life. It moves beyond test scores and graduation rates to provide a more holistic, multifactor perspective of district and school performance.

School District Improvement Plans and Parental Outreach Activities

During the 2021-2022 school year, Salisbury Central School continued to find ways to maintain and improve the quality of education provided for all students, despite the ongoing challenges created COVID-19. Our focus for both special education and regular education was on data collection and tiered interventions. Teachers tracked and analyzed data using Fastbridge, classroom or regional assessments, and cognitive assessments. Our grade level data teams met each week to review student achievement, share best practices and to modify supports as needed. Our Special Education team and Response to Intervention team meet weekly as well. Classroom teachers and special education teachers collaborate regularly on instructional strategies and needed modifications/accommodations. In order to meet the needs of all our learners, professional learning for staff remained centered on assessment, social emotional learning, and curriculum.

At Salisbury Central School, we understand that regular attendance is critical for success at school. Families are asked to inform the school of pre-planned absences so that student work can be collected ahead of time. Our absence review committee meets monthly to stay on top of this. Absences are only excused if they meet the state guidelines. Families receive a letter if absences grow beyond what is allowed. Meetings are held with the principal, nurse, guidance counselor, and teacher(s) to help support families that have high numbers of absences or tardies. This year student absences continued to be higher due to illness or quarantine. Students were provided work for prolonged absences.

Salisbury Central School values our relationship with families and community members. This year, the information about COVID-19 continued to be a priority in our communication, the purpose of which was to keep Salisbury Central's stakeholders as informed as possible with the most current data, mitigation practices, and safety protocols.

Teachers are in constant communication with families regarding student progress in the classroom. They send weekly newsletters or updates, post information on Seesaw, and use email and other media to communicate with families. SCS houses all information on the school website and social media pages. We were happy to return to in-person student involvement or student-led conferences twice this year. The school principal was available to conference with families as well.

SCS continues to find new ways to support students working at home on learning activities. Teachers post resources on classroom webpages, Seesaw, and Google Classroom that include learning interactives and activities that students can engage in with their families. Teachers send home formative work to strengthen skills while at home. One focus this year was on independent reading. Once again, the school joined with the local library and enrichment program to provide a "Two Books, One School" summer reading program for K-8 families. Books were provided for all students and staff. Our English Language Arts professional learning committee organized the annual literacy celebration in March. The theme was "Reading Colors Your World." Students go to the school library each week and are always encouraged to check out books to read with family members. We continued to integrate STEAM activities throughout the school day. Our in-school

Efforts to Reduce Racial, Ethnic and Economic Isolation

Salisbury Central School is located in a rural corner of Northwest Connecticut. As a result, it is critical for our staff to expose students to people, places, and cultures within our country and around the world. This year one of our strategic plan goals focused on diversity, equity, and inclusion. We dedicated a portion of all professional learning days to this work. Both the Social studies and ELA curriculum are rich with diverse cultures. Once again, Grades 5-8 participated in The Global Read Aloud as a way to connect with students from other parts of the country and world. Current events from around the world are a frequent source of class discussion in all grades. SCS often partners with students from the local private schools (both have students from all over the world) to share experiences. Our Spanish program begins in Grade 1. Students in the upper grades are able to communicate with students in Peru and Spain. We were happy to be able to bring back many field trips this year including Howe Caverns, The Wadsworth Museum, Ct Science Center, Hartford Children's Museum, Sharon Audubon, and more. 6th graders spent four nights at Nature's Classroom. Grade 8 students did a one night, two day trip to Boston. The school's EL population includes students who speak a variety of languages. These students share experiences from their homelands with the rest of the student population.

Salisbury School District

Equitable Allocation of Resources among District Schools

Salisbury Central School is a one-school district that is generously supported by the town of Salisbury. The school population remains around 300 students and staffing is consistent with the needs of providing high quality teaching and learning to all. This year funds were allocated to allow for an increase in administrative support in order to ensure that teachers and staff in two buildings had the support they needed. Funds are sufficient for textbooks, supplies, field trips, technology, and student activities. The town has supported investments to allow for needed improvements to both buildings and to ensure the safety, maintenance, and beautification of the entire school campus. During another challenging year, the town ensured that funds could be utilized to maintain quality instruction and meet all health and safety guidelines required by COVID-19.
