Notes

Unless otherwise noted, all data are for 2023-24 and include all grades offered by the district.

In most tables, data are displayed only for the three major race/ethnicity categories. For additional race/ethnicity categories, please visit <https://edsight.ct.gov>

State totals are not displayed as they are not comparable to district totals.

Special Education tables reflect only students for whom the district is fiscally responsible.

* When an asterisk is displayed, data have been suppressed to safeguard student confidentiality. Complete data suppression guidelines are available at <https://tinyurl.com/SuppressionPolicy>

N/A is displayed when a category is not applicable for a district or school.

Performance and Accountability

District Performance Index (DPI)

A District Performance Index (DPI) is the average performance of students in a subject area (i.e., ELA, Mathematics or Science) on the state summative assessments. The DPI ranges from 0-100. A DPI is reported for all students tested in a district and for students in each individual student group. Connecticut's ultimate target for a DPI is 75.

¹ NAEP is often called the "Nation's Report Card." It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education. This table compares Connecticut's performance to that of national public school students. Performance standards for state assessments and NAEP are set independently. Therefore, one should not expect performance results to be the same across Smarter Balanced and NAEP. Instead, NAEP results are meant to complement other state assessment data. To view performance on NAEP by student group, at ²The Connecticut Physical Fitness Assessment (CPFA) is administered to students in Grades 4, 6, 8 and High School (HS). The health-related fitness scores gathered through the CPFA should be used to educate and motivate children and their families to increase physical activity and develop lifetime fitness habits.

³Only students assessed in all four areas are included in this calculation.

Next Generation Accountability Results

Connecticut's Next Generation Accountability System is a broad set of 12 indicators that help tell the story of how well a district/school is preparing its students for success in college, careers, and life. It moves beyond test scores and graduation rates to provide a more holistic, multifactor perspective of district and school performance.

Narratives

School District Improvement Plans and Parental Outreach Activities

The BOE mission/vision for Andover Elementary School continues to be committed to "providing a creative and challenging curriculum for all in a safe environment while nurturing the values of responsibility, respectfulness, and a desire for learning." AES is exposed to a multitude of enrichment programs. We were awarded an enrichment summer grant and have used this to increase parental outreach and awareness of school programs. We also allow for afterschool partnerships with COOL to assist the working parent with homework times. For our enrichment programs, Makerspace promotes inquiry and a love of STEM activities and continues, as well as science enrichment and Invention Convention. We continued to offer Spanish to grades 2-6 on a weekly basis. In addition, we had an afterschool grant full of monthly family-engaging activities and daily opportunities for all children. The culmination at the end of the school year also included family enrichment bags full of academic and family fun activities to span the summer. Professional development continued with SEL training, safety, and first aid as well as PMT training. We have expanded our early learning program to not only assist families with high-quality care and enrichment but also to focus on fundamentals in a play-based learning NAEYC-accredited preschool and kindergarten program. We now service more children in this program than any other grade in the building.

Efforts to Reduce Racial, Ethnic and Economic Isolation

Andover Elementary School is a one-school district. All students had been provided a device to ensure, no student would be isolated or denied access to technology. As a one-school pre-k to grade 6 school district, less isolation is apparent, but as a fairly homogeneous district, we are cognizant of our responsibility to seek out opportunities and strive to afford all of our learners with experiences that focus on an embedded awareness of equity and social justice. Most of the students attend AES and do not opt-out and go to magnet schools, so bringing the outside into Andover is integral. Programs embedded to heighten the awareness of cultural and racial differences have increased as permanent parts of the school and curriculum instead of just as "one-day events" but we still can improve upon this component. AES included a "Be the Authors" program through BUDSIES to reinforce the writing and reading curriculum through the appreciation of the children as authors and illustrators. We have a book vending machine that includes an array of high-interest diverse books. Our NAEYC program meets very high standards for diversity and inclusivity in preschool and kinder. Our library offerings included themes of the chosen literary works that were purposeful and examined immigration, racial identity, and cultural aspects. In addition, we often participate in an inter-district book club between Andover and another small Eastern Connecticut town. Our social studies classes in the upper grades continued with their colonial programs but also added a component of global awareness by including Junior Achievement into their curricula. In doing so, AES is also supporting the state's push to implement the certificate of global awareness program at the secondary level, a CAPSS initiative designed to further increase student awareness of the diversity of individuals and cultures. Grade 5 also participates in a team-building activity at Nature's classroom as well as Kid Governor. At AES we have integrated curriculum and social-emotional learning tenets deeply rooted in our daily lessons that embrace anti-bullying, acceptance of others, kindness, and respect.

Equitable Allocation of Resources among District Schools

Andover is a one-school district with our middle and high school students attending RHAM regional in Hebron. AES is a pre-k through grade 6 school, and within our school community attention is paid to the equal allocation of resources from grade to grade to ensure equity. Resources are equitable from grade to grade, and all opportunities are presented to all Andover students.
