Notes

Unless otherwise noted, all data are for 2023-24 and include all grades offered by the district.

In most tables, data are displayed only for the three major race/ethnicity categories. For additional race/ethnicity categories, please visit <https://edsight.ct.gov>

State totals are not displayed as they are not comparable to district totals.

Special Education tables reflect only students for whom the district is fiscally responsible.

* When an asterisk is displayed, data have been suppressed to safeguard student confidentiality. Complete data suppression guidelines are available at <https://tinyurl.com/SuppressionPolicy>

N/A is displayed when a category is not applicable for a district or school.

Performance and Accountability

District Performance Index (DPI)

A District Performance Index (DPI) is the average performance of students in a subject area (i.e., ELA, Mathematics or Science) on the state summative assessments. The DPI ranges from 0-100. A DPI is reported for all students tested in a district and for students in each individual student group. Connecticut's ultimate target for a DPI is 75.

¹ NAEP is often called the "Nation's Report Card." It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education. This table compares Connecticut's performance to that of national public school students. Performance standards for state assessments and NAEP are set independently. Therefore, one should not expect performance results to be the same across Smarter Balanced and NAEP. Instead, NAEP results are meant to complement other state assessment data. To view performance on NAEP by student group, at

Next Generation Accountability Results

Connecticut's Next Generation Accountability System is a broad set of 12 indicators that help tell the story of how well a district/school is preparing its students for success in college, careers, and life. It moves beyond test scores and graduation rates to provide a more holistic, multifactor perspective of district and school performance.

The Woodstock Academy District

Narratives

The Woodstock Academy, an independent high school welcoming approximately 1,050 domestic and international students, is deeply committed to reducing racial, ethnic, and economic isolation. Over the past school year, The Academy has implemented several impactful initiatives aimed at fostering a more inclusive environment.

One of the primary strategies has been building and growing an international boarding program. Right now, about 160 students from over 30 countries live and study at our school. This diverse learning environment not only broadens students' perspectives but also encourages cultural exchange among peers from varied backgrounds.

In addition, The Academy employs a Director of Equity and Inclusion whose goal is to engage in activities aimed at celebrating different cultures and promoting inclusivity.

He coordinates a wide array of extracurricular programs, multicultural clubs for students, diversity days, professional development programming, guest speakers, holiday celebrations, and much more. These initiatives encourage students and staff to learn about and appreciate the rich tapestry of identities within their school community.

Furthermore, we have focused on minority educator recruitment. Over the last three years, we have made great progress in recruiting educators of diverse backgrounds to more closely reflect the diversity of our student body. This not only enriches the educational experience but also provides students with role models who reflect their identities.

Through these comprehensive efforts, The Woodstock Academy remains dedicated to reducing isolation and fostering an inclusive environment where every student feels valued and empowered. The journey toward a truly diverse community is ongoing, and The Academy is proud to be at the forefront of this important mission.

Equitable Allocation of Resources among District Schools

At The Woodstock Academy, the allocation of district resources is a carefully structured process aimed at addressing the diverse needs of our 1,050 domestic and international students. Each year, the administration conducts a comprehensive needs assessment, gathering input from faculty, students, and parents to identify key areas for improvement.

Based on this data, resources are distributed equitably among departments and programs, ensuring that every student has access to essential services, such as academic support, extracurricular activities, and mental health resources. Funding is allocated not just by enrollment numbers but also by considering the unique challenges faced by different student groups.

Moreover, the academy prioritizes transparency and collaboration, involving stakeholders in budget discussions. Regular reviews ensure that resource allocation remains responsive to changing student needs. This holistic approach fosters an inclusive environment where every student can thrive, reinforcing our commitment to equity and excellence in education.
